Paul Haedo Book Memes

Selected Comics

Twelve one-panel comics adapted from books by Paul Haedo.

Illustrations are AI-generated.

CONTENTS

02 Machines with Opinions

06 Company at the Table

10 Words at Work

Paul Haedo Book Memes online gallery

Page-Turner

Source book by Paul Haedo

The Designer

Panel description

Jonathan lowers his glasses as the library AI points a small desk fan at an open book, sending its pages fluttering. ‘Jonathan asked the library AI for a page-turner.’ ‘It brought him a little fan.’

View this comic online

The Last Page

Source book by Paul Haedo

World Engine

Panel description

A captain in a cluttered engine room looks between a sprung mechanical hatch and the last page of a dog-eared manual, which has a little sad face printed on it. ‘The repair manual had one last page.’ ‘It was an apology from the printer.’

View this comic online

Cookies and Milk

Source book by Paul Haedo

The Mycelial Invasion

Panel description

At a computer-store counter, Vincent points to a cookie icon while a mushroom holds a glass of milk. Vincent explained that websites use cookies. The mushroom brought a glass of milk.

Test Flight

Source book by Paul Haedo

Peacekeeper: The Complete Series

Panel description

An orange cat bats a model spacecraft off a table while its builder looks on with a paintbrush. I built a model of the Calyster. The cat gave it a test flight.

A Second Fork

Source book by Paul Haedo

Beauty Unexpected

Panel description

Two people share the last slice of pie in a trailside diner. ‘I don’t need dessert.’ ‘I do need a second fork.’

Waiting for a Sign

Source book by Paul Haedo

A Chance Encounter

Panel description

Meghan smiles through the café door as she holds up an OPEN sign for William. William said he was waiting for a sign. Meghan turned the café sign to OPEN.

The Good Chore

Source book by Paul Haedo

A Man's Guide to Surviving Marriage in the 21st Century

Panel description

Two amused spouses lift the clear protective film off a shiny new toaster together. We agreed to pick the chores we enjoyed. We both picked peeling the film off the new toaster.

Dinner Undercover

Source book by Paul Haedo

Emily Reed and the Humans

Panel description

A dinner guest measures spaghetti with calipers. ‘Undercover dinner went smoothly.’ ‘Until they saw the calipers.’

The Fog Machine

Source book by Paul Haedo

The Director

Panel description

Emma’s head and Francis’s outstretched hands poke above a floor-level bank of fog that almost hides a studio fog machine. ‘Emma asked if the fog machine was working.’ ‘Francis said he couldn’t find it.’

One or Two?

Source book by Paul Haedo

Stack It Tall: A Guide to Writing

Panel description

An optometrist adjusts an eye-exam lens while a writer holds up two marked-up manuscript pages. ‘I wrote the scene from two points of view.’ ‘My optometrist asked, “One or two?”’

View this comic online

Footnote

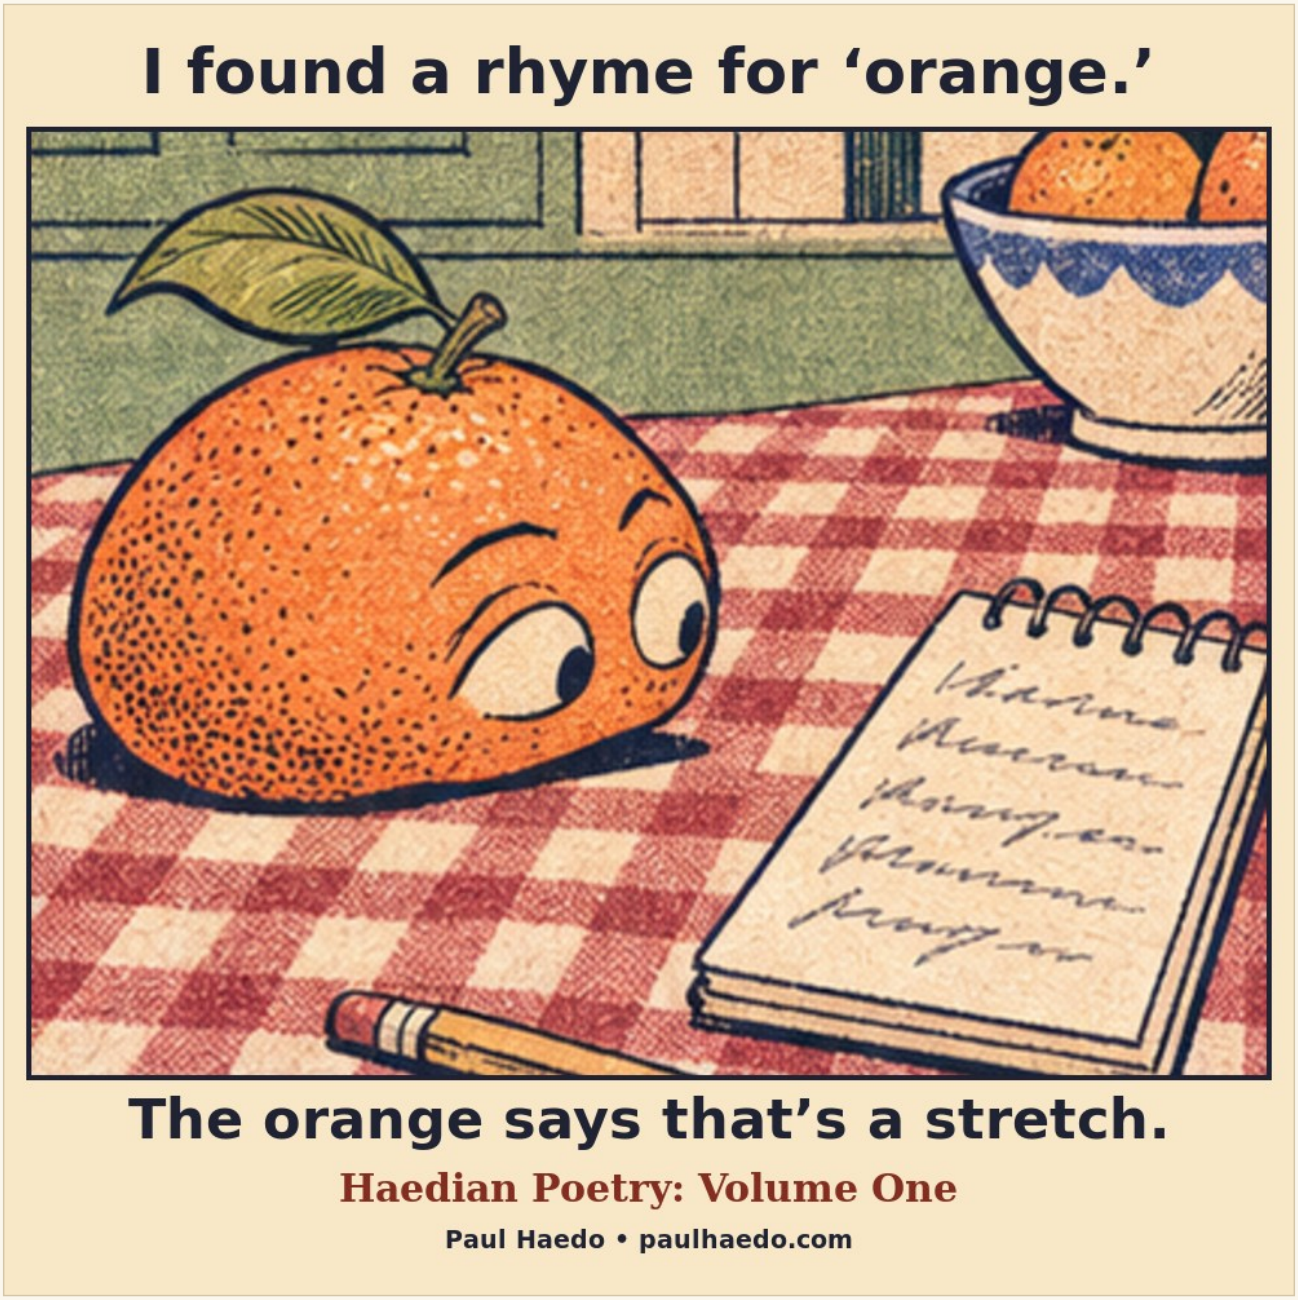

Source book by Paul Haedo

The Word of Era

Panel description

A visitor points at a note stuck to the sole of a leather sandal while a scribe looks on. The Eranian scribe promised a footnote. I had to turn the sandal over.

A Rhyme for Orange

Source book by Paul Haedo

Haedian Poetry: Volume One

Panel description

An orange on a kitchen table stretches sideways to peer at a small notebook of penciled rhymes. ‘I found a rhyme for ‘orange.’’ ‘The orange says that’s a stretch.’